

Participants' Regulations for category Youth (Adams Flute Factor)

1. Participation

The Youth category (Adams Flute Factor) is a low threshold open platform for participants from all countries.

The only requirement is that the participants are not professional and are not enrolled in a pre-training or young talent class of a conservatory.

In case of doubt about the accurate description of training, the board of Stichting Nationaal Fluitconcours may decide to place a participant in subcategory 3 (young talent) of the Dutch International Flute Competition, allow the participant to play but not compete or exclude the participant entirely.

2. Participation Category

Age: 8 – 13

3. Playing time

A performance may take no longer than 10 minutes (including changes).

The jury can stop a performance which is running over time.

The performances are open to the public.

4. Program requirements and evaluation

The choice of music is free. Unique compositions, interpretations and original performances will be appreciated.

The amount of playing experience will be taken into consideration in the evaluation. Not just the result counts but the possibility for further development.

Any changes made in the program as originally submitted in the application form have to be made known to the organisation no later than 6 weeks before the competition day.

5. Scores and copies

Two copies of each score must be handed to the jury secretary on the day of the competition. The jury uses these copies while listening and judging the participant.

Stichting Nationaal Fluitconcours stresses the fact that the use of copies is a legal offence if the original printed music cannot be displayed at the same time.

6. Registration

Registration ends on January 1st of the year of the competition. Registration takes place by means of an online completed application form on www.fluitconcours.nl. When registering, the participant sends a link to a recording (audio and video) of itself.
